

Shut'tle, n. [A. S. scyttel, scyttels, a bar, bolt, from sceolan, to shoot, dart, cast.] (Weaving.) An instrument used for passing or shooting the thread of the woof in weaving from one side of the cloth to the other, between the threads of the warp.