At Last I've Found a Way to Turn My Spare Time Into Extra Money!

“You know Dick, you'd never admit there was anything worth while in these spare time homework plans. But I knew you were wrong and now I'm going to prove it. You're one of those matter-of-fact, practical business men—a little stubborn at times—who thinks a woman has no head for business. I was willing to give up my position when we were married, for I knew it would hurt your pride to see me going to work; but I didn't agree to merely spend my spare hours at home twirling my thumbs and looking pretty. And when I saw you worrying—fretting—figuring—trying to make your salary buy the things we need and want, I made up my mind I'd find a way to help you.

“One night last June when you were working late at the office, Mary Smith ran in for a little chat. You know how hard up Mary and John have been since they were married—and how pitifully dowdy Mary was beginning to look in that same dress and hat. Well, when she stepped into the room I could hardly believe my eyes. She had on a stunning tailored suit, an adorable fall hat, brown satin slippers and one of the prettiest furs I have ever seen. I guess she noticed my first look of surprise, for she laughed and said ‘I see you don't know me.’ Then she told me her story.

It seems that John's salary wasn't quite enough to meet their regular household expenses, much less buy clothes or furniture and the many things they needed. They were slowly getting into debt, the rent had been raised and things were going from bad to worse. John was desperate and Mary was pretty well discouraged too. She wanted to take a position for a while, but John wouldn't hear of it.

“One day, more out of curiosity than anything else, Mary answered an advertisement of The Auto Knitter Hosiery Company of Buffalo—large distributors of knitted wool hosiery. The advertisement announced a new plan whereby women at home could knit socks with the aid of an ingenious little machine called the Auto Knitter. And the company offered to buy back all the standard socks made on this machine, at a guaranteed wage rate.

“Mary sent for the free book and was so convinced by the letters from other women, telling what this plan had meant to them, that she decided to give it a trial. She ordered the little machine and a supply of wool yarn and set to work. Every day she devoted a few spare hours to the pleasant, interesting work—without interfering with regular household duties in any way. Each week she shipped a package of fine, durable, well-shaped socks to Buffalo and back came the welcome pay check. Before she realized it she had $200 in the bank; and with every package of socks shipped off to Buffalo, her bank balance grew and grew.

“That's how she was able to buy those beautiful clothes. And besides, she now had an electric vacuum washing machine, a dandy vacuum cleaner and many other things which she has gotten through the Auto Knitter Double Value Plan.

“When Mary had gone, I did some quick thinking. What Mary had done, I could do, I reasoned. And I made up my mind to start without delay. I, too, sent for the free book. It told how, through the remarkable new plan, hundreds of women everywhere were turning into money the spare hours and half hours that might otherwise be wasted. I got the little machine and started out to help solve our problem of ‘not quite enough money’. Each day, after my work was done, I turned out pair after pair of fine wool socks; and when it was time to get dinner, I hid the machine away in my dresser drawer and put the socks and wool high up on the closet shelf. I made up my mind not to tell you what I was doing, for I was afraid you'd laugh and ridicule my scheme. So I just kept on making socks, and with every package that went off to Buffalo another entry appeared in my bank book.

“That's my little secret, Dick. And from now on it will be our secret. For I'm going to keep right on knitting my spare hours into extra dollars until you get the promised salary you deserve. But the best of it all is that we will no longer have to worry over nasty money problems. And we can now afford the things we need, for at last I've found a way to turn my spare time into extra dollars.
