

Dear Students,

We are two professors from Computer Science working on a “repeatability and reproducibility” project - for more information see our website <http://repeatability.cs.arizona.edu>.

We are looking for dedicated and talented students (graduates and advanced undergraduates) who are interested in research, to help us with this project. These are normally paid positions, but you could also take them for research credit.

We are looking for someone with strong technical skills, including algorithm design and Python or Java programming. A background in machine learning, computational linguistics, or text processing might be useful, but is not essential.

The position will begin ASAP and, if successful, may continue indefinitely, including over summer.

If you are interested, please send an email with your CV to Christian Collberg (collberg@gmail.com).