

TLA has openings for a new Student Fellow! This is a paid, 10-hour per week position for a student; specifically, we're searching for someone with expertise in software.

In short, Student Fellows work with TLA licensing managers and help assess new inventions disclosed to our office. The job includes doing patent landscape research, market research and commercial assessments, creating "non-confidential summaries" of new technologies, and other duties.

These are excellent opportunities for students interested in the world of technology transfer to leverage their expertise and experience how inventions move from the research lab to the market.

Info about the program, including required skills and experience, is at <http://techlaunch.arizona.edu/tla-student-fellows-program>.
